Kielce, 9 November 1948, 11.00 a. m. In 1944 (I don't remember an exact date), my lodger, Józef Niedziela from Malżyce village in the Miechów district, was taken from my flat by the gendarmes.

At first, for three and a half months, he was incarcerated in the prison in Kielce, and then he was executed by a fence on Lipowa Street in Kielce at about 16:30, together with four men who were unknown to me..

Their bodies were uncovered after the arrival of the Red Army, and then I recognized Józef Niedziela and saw four other unknown people. Józef Niedziela and one other man (allegedly an engineer, but I don't know his surname or where he came from) could be identified. The three other men were unrecognizable, as the bodies were in the state of complete decomposition.

I have nothing more to add. The report was read out and signed.
