My most memorable moment from the German occupation

I remember that during the occupation, the Germans would very often organize round-ups and deport Polish people to dig trenches or perform other labor. In 1943, Mr. German was also killed by the Germans. Mikołajczyk, who was very learned, also died at that time. He was killed near our school. Schoolchildren used to decorate the grave of this fallen scout. On the edge of the forest, near the road, there is also a grave of soldiers who fought to defend Poland.
